

Kuriko Mizuno

She received her Master's degree in Japanese pedagogy with ESL certificate from Purdue University. She has taught all levels of Japanese regular language courses from beginners to advanced at Purdue University and The University of Iowa. While at The University of Iowa, she also served as a Japanese program coordinator. She also has experience teaching Japanese at North Shore Language Academy in Australia and several summer intensive courses at Purdue University, Kyoto Consortium for Japanese Studies, and Sophia University. Her research interests include bilingual education and translating/interpreting.

