June 28th – July 19th, 2024 *June 28th: Orientation *July 5: No-class day

Date: January 30, 2024

Course Title	Contemporary Japanese Society
Course Code	SOZ480
Instructor	Prof. Dr. Ronald Saladin
Class Period	3rd period: 13:30-15:10
Course Format	In-Person
Language of Instruction	English
Course Description	This course examines the development and current state of contemporary Japanese society. The scope of topics discussed will span from conceptions of Japanese uniqueness via gender constructions, the political system, class and stratification, to family, youth, minorities, work and demographic challenges. It will also attend to the media, popular culture as well as leisure time and consumption.
Course Objectives	The idea of this course is to create an overview of various aspects that shape the current state of Japanese society. It will enable the participants to create their own comprehensive idea about contemporary Japan.
Expected work outside of class	Students are required to prepare reading assignments and do additional tasks (homework) for each class. This could take between 2-3 hours, depending on the individual.
Course Materials	Purchase of textbook: not necessary e-book: not applicable
Moodle	Texts will be made available via moodle.
Contact Instructor	•via Email *The email address will be available at CGED office or informed by the instructor in the first class if needed.
Evaluation (Attendance, Class participation, in-class assignments, final exam, quizzes, etc.)	Intermediate Exam: 50% Final Exam: 50% These exams should be understood as a means to reflect upon and recapitulate the topics covered in class. The intermediate exam will encompass the content of the first half of the course, while the final exam will cover the latter half. Students have the opportunity to earn an additional 10% through extra credits by preparing a report. To do so, they must compose a

	report of 1200 words (main text) on a topic of their choice that has already been discussed or will be discussed during the course. This report must address a specific question regarding the chosen topic, and students are required to adhere to academic standards. This entails constructing a comprehensive argument supported by factual evidence. Any ideas or thoughts derived from sources must be properly cited, and all reference materials used must be included in the bibliography at the end of the report. Merely expressing an opinion is insufficient; students must substantiate their opinions with a comprehensive argument based on the literature. Any student who submits a report and passes it will receive at least a passing grade for the course, provided they have achieved at least 20% in either written exam. The report is due on the final day of class and must be submitted in printed form before the commencement of the final exam.
