Areas of Interests and Professional Experience:

Her research interests focus on women's studies and lifestyle research. She is also an expert in disaster social work and therapy. She works enthusiastically in the areas of sex education, marriage counseling, and women's economic and intellectual development as a scholar, writer, and columnist. From 2014-2015, she visited the University of Southern California as a Fulbright scholar. She has been teaching in the U.S., Europe, and Japan as a visiting scholar and/or guest lecturer for many years.

Her career is not limited to teaching and research. As a former journalist and column writer, she is sensitive to social issues and always brings the freshest life stories and social changes into her teaching. She pays great attention to students' feedback, feelings, and interactions.
