

Kunihiko Homma

Kunihiko Homma is a Japanese language lecturer at Washington University in St. Louis. He has taught Japanese at UC San Diego, the University of Wisconsin–Madison, the University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa, UCLA, and the International Christian University in Japan. He enjoys helping students build practical communication skills and confidence in Japanese. His research interests include Japanese sociolinguistics, especially language ideologies and everyday language practices.