

Nanako Machida

Professor Emerita at Nanzan University. After earning a Ph.D. in Linguistics from University of Wisconsin–Madison, she served as an Assistant Professor at Wellesley College before joining the Department of Japanese Studies in the Faculty of Foreign Studies at Nanzan University in September 1990. She subsequently served as a Visiting Researcher in the Department of Linguistics and Philosophy at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and later as Professor at Nanzan University's Center for Foreign Language Education. She has held a number of administrative positions, including Deputy Director of the International Center and Deputy Director of the Center for Foreign Language Education. She was appointed Professor Emerita in April 2024.

Her areas of specialization include linguistics, Japanese linguistics, Japanese language education, and research related to international student education.